

(Pictured below are Colleen Armstrong, owner and manager of Grand Treats and Treasures, Cayuga, her husband Alan Traver, and their son Calvin Traver. Alan is sporting the beard he is growing for the contest connected with the Sesquicentennial. The tote bag behind Calvin and the decorated Walker's Chocolate Bar he is holding are the family's fund raising items which will benefit Cayuga's 150th Anniversary celebrations.)

Tote bags that can be folded to fit inside a purse when not in use and specially decorated Walker's chocolate bars are being used by Grand Treats and Treasures, 15 Cayuga Street North, in Cayuga, for fund raising for the village's 150th Anniversary Celebrations. 100% of profits on both items will be donated to the Sesquicentennial Steering Committee.

The tote bags have the official anniversary logo on them. They are selling for only $5.65 each, tax included. The chocolate bars are each hand decorated and read "Cayuga's 150th". They come in a special box with a see through window and would make a lovely addition to an Easter basket. (The store will be closed on Good Friday, April 10th, but open otherwise.)

Also available in the store are samples of and prices for the memorabilia for the anniversary which are available at Foodland Cayuga and also at the official anniversary office at 2 Cayuga Street North which opens officially on May 4th.

Colleen Armstrong is now on Face Book and is contacting numbers of friends with whom she grew up in Cayuga inviting them to attend the July 11th-19th festivities as a homecoming reunion.
